I had a fine reception here as I have bad everywhere eise I have stopped on my round-the-world flight. But necessarily, I had to cut all formalities short. I set the men at the airport working on my feed pipe, which has not been functioning properly, ate a light meal and slept four hours.

When I awoke it was 9 o'clock (Tuesday night, Irkutsk time). I was all set to go. My sleep had completely refreshed me. So it can be imagined how disappointed I was when I was told that a sudden storm had developed over the Baikal mountains, which lie in my course. I was told that this made it mighty risky for me to take off.

Nevertheless, I went out on to the

AGREEMENT SEEN FOR SILVER PLANS

Economic Conference Moves Toward Adjournment July 27.

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER.

LONDON, July 19 .- (A) - Senator Key Pittman, of Nevada, received encouragement for his silver revival plans today as the world economic conference moved steadily toward adjournment July 27, one committee after another deciding to postpone consideration indefinitely on their problems

NEW YORK, July 19.—(P)— Guerrilla tactics of bank robbers in small towns of the south, middle west and northwest have led bankers and casualty underwriters to adopt a new basic insurance ruling of keeping at least 85 per cent of bank cash in time vaults.

The National Bureau of Casualty and Safety Underwriters said today that at the request of small town bankers, desirous of keeping down the premiums on robbery insurance, the policy had been applied to banks

A monetary subcommittee discussing technical questions made another attempt to save something of its central bank co-operation resolution and it was understood that a modified report was decided upon, with the American delegate making certain reservations.

The committee on indirect protectionism resolved that a special conference to draw up a treaty on this sub-ject should be held "at an appropriate

The governor asserted that he was not ready to announce just when his decision would be made other than it will be handed down "soon."

The chief executive Wednesday received from the department of law a number of opinions covering different phases of the case and spent some time in conference with Attorney-General M. J. Yeomans. He said that he would continue his study of the evidence and that the decision would be made public as quickly as it is determined.

Roosevelt Again Kept From Official Duties

WASHINGTON. July 19.—(P)—President Roosevelt arranged to stay away from his office one more day today at the suggestion of his physician, to complete fully his recovery from Monday's indisposition.

He was dressed and ready to return to his desk in the executive office; but Dr. Ross T. McIntire, of the naval hospital, suggested that another day of relaxation would be best.

Marvin H. McIntyre, a secretary to the president, described the indisposition as a slight cold, said Mr. Roosevelt had no temperature and was feelvelt had no temperature and was feel

Plans to Increase Tourist Travel On Highway 41 Are Outlined Here

There is as much competition between highways for tourists travel as there is between transportation systems. W. J. Watson, of Evansville, Ind., publicity director for the United States Highway No. 41 Association, said at a luncheon meeting at the Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday.

The meeting was attended by members of the Atlanta Convention Bureau and representatives of business groups. The meeting took steps to support highway No. 41, the direct route from Chicago and the middle west, to Miami. Mr. Watson has been in Florida and Georgia organizing cities in membership clubs to support the highway, and has organized all points south of Griffin, he said.

Until two or three years ago, Mr. Watson said, highway 41 had a monopoly on travel between Chicago.

LEOPARD'S SPOTS WASHINGTON, July 19 .- No one but Little Red Riding Hood will be fooled by the innocent look of the Wall Street wolves these days. They have not mended their ways. After all the hullabaloo raised over the J. P. Morgan lists, a certain prominent private banking house (not the Morgans) has done the same thing again.

The house recently issued a new stock in an eastern distillery financing scheme. It offered blocks of the stock privately to a preferred list of customers. The price was around $15 a share. The opening public sale on the stock exchange later was about 150 per cent higher.

That shows clearly how much the average Wall Streeter is afraid of the senate investigators.

All those involved in the distillery deal realized the transaction would probably be bared by the senate in the fall. Committee sleuths already are on the trail. They will soon have the private list if they do not have it now. The public will be let in on it when hearings are resumed.

It should be safe to assume that the government officials who were burned by the publication of the Morgan lists will not be on machinery for employes. At the same time, some administration spokesmen were whispering to labor leaders that they could use the code to their own advantage. If the company union is accepted, union organizers car then devote themselves to taking it over instead of trying to set up a new organization. It becomes more evident every day that the labor section of the code is not yet in final form. The one finally made public is the fifth submitted by the industry. The first four were turned down privately by General Johnson, Madame Perkins, et al.

He is Mr. Woodin's colored messenger, Gus, the only important holdover from the Mellon-Mills regime. Gus points out that Mr. Woodin has leased a Washington home containing 32 rooms and 10 baths. It is utterly inconceivable to him that a man would require so many baths unless he was plan-

Apparently Mr. Woodin is not so certain. Recently he saw a story in a New York newspaper stating Senator Couzens would succeed him. He called Acting Secretary Dean Acheson on the telephone, asking: "How do you like your new boss?"

Mr. Acheson did not understand until Mr. Woodin mentioned Mr. Acheson then said that pending more substantial information he would continue to take orders from Mr. Woodin.

The White House flatly denies that Mr. Woodin is resigning. That does not impress experienced observers very much. White House has denied several things which later proved to be Mr. Woodin has been away from his job for a solid month He telephones his office occasionally. The Blind Men Couldn't Describe The Elephant After Feeling Its Trunk and Tail

By Robert Quillen . When an Englishman crosses the Atlantic, travels west as far as Buffalo, and then goes home to write a book explaining America, the result is several hundred pages of unintentional humor.

Yet millions of Americans have a mental picture of their country that is no more accurate than the casual visitor's.

It is natural for all of us to assume that the whole country is like the portion of it that we see. If we attempt to describe America we describe our home town, and the typical American is our neighbor. Those who have lived in all sections and those who read local papers from every state may see America as it is, provided they are blessed with imagination and the ability to interpret signs; but the ordinary citizen, in town or country, has little understanding of what lies beyond

Magazines of national circulation could do much to overcome this provincialisms but few, if any, have outgrown the influence of their environment. Their writers, for the most part, live in the metropolis and unfortunately form their opinions of local material. Their verdicts seem absurd because they miss most of the evidence.

One such writer recently bewailed the passing of the old-fashioned Sunday. Back in the '90's, he said, the whole family welcomed Sunday as a day of relaxation. Everybody dressed up. There was a big Sunday dinner, with guests to share it. And everybody went to church and then sat around and enjoyed the quiet. All of that, he said, is history. Now everybody plays golf or takes was away long automobile trip or remains at home to mix cocktails for a procession of noisy callers. How much information did the article contain? Merely the fact that the writer, some time about 1895, moved from a rural environment to urban environment. And he thinks the country has changed because he changed. Half of our people still live in the sticks-a number equal to the population of France. There are 60,000,000 church members, and a on Sunday and have a big Sunday dinner. Few of them take long trips

America is a big land, with many interests. One section thinks and ns in terms of wheat, another in terms of cotton, and others in terms of wheat, another in terms of cotton, and others in terms of the state and of the people. Of all the powers assumed by the government this is probably the strongest in the campaign for complete. The control of the companies of the state and of the people. Each section has its peculiar problems, and these make the people distinctive in habit, viewpoint, standards and terms of speech. But all of these people are Americans, and you can't understand America until you know how they live and what they think and why

COTTON OPTIONS

Takes Over All U.S.-Owned Staple; 1,474,384 Bales Now Available.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, July 19 .- Secretary Wallace has taken over from the farm credit administration all available cotton held by governmental credit agencies to fulfill the terms of the options with producers in the cotton reduction program.

Oscar Johnston, director of finance. who has handled the negotiations for the agricultural adjustment administration, stated that the contracts were completed today for immediate delivery of 1.019.184 bales of actual cotton and 455.200 bales of cotton futures and that delivery was expected some time between August 1 and August 5, of between 150,000 and 200,000 bales. Thus a total of more than 1,624,384 bales will be available. In addition to this cotton, the farm credit administration is endeavoring credit administration is endeavoring to acquire title to an appreciable portion of the 788,000 bales upon which the government holds crop production loan liens. Acquisitions from this source, added to that already delivered, will provide sufficient cotton to cover the options to producers who have agreed to reduce production.

Will Have Enough.

Mr. Johnston issued the following statement concerning this transaction:

"Through the delivery of actual cotton and futures from the farm credit administration and the additional cotton which it is now seeking to acquire, the agricultural adjustment administration will have a sufficient amount of cotton to cover the options

It is estimated that the government's requirements could not exceed 2,300,000 bales. That figure probably will be scaled down appreciably when some contracts are rejected because of legal or other defects or when growers, in some cases, may fail to carry out the terms of their offers. The reductions from these sources should reduce the amount of cotton required to cover these options to between two million and two and one-quarter million bales."

Mr. Johnston further announced that an agreement had been concluded with the American Cotton Co-operative Association of New Orleans, to act as agents for the agricultural adjustment administration in marketing the actual cotton when growers call their options. Negotiations are also pending, Mr. Johnston said, with the Staple Cotton Co-operative Association of Greenwood, Miss., to handle some 75,000 bales of long staple cotton now stored in the Mississippi valley.

Will Avoid Dumping.

All actual cotton will be sold to the trade generally. Mr. Johnston said. "without discrimination or favoritism and with every caution to avoid dumping or taking any action that might have an unfavorable effect on the market."

Mr. Johnston stated that in formulating its plans the agricultural adjustment administration had the counsel and co-operation of leading co-operatives as well as the nation's largest cotton shippers and merchants.

Under the terms of the option contracts, producers holding options will not be permitted to call prior to December 1, 1933, at a price under 9.1-2 cents per pound. They may call upon the secretary of agriculture for settlement on the cotton options held by them at any time before that date if the price is not below the 9.1-2-cent level. After December 1 the producers may sell their cotton at any time. The options expire May 1, 1934.

At the same time, it was learned that Ryburn Clay, well-known Atlanta banker, has notified administration officials that he will be unavailable for service on the Georgia board. His name had been concurred in by Senator Walter F. George and Senator Richard B. Russell.

In asking that his name be withdrawn, Mr. Clay is understood to have informed the administration that he would be unable to devote proper time to the board on account of his private business duties. His appointment had been regarded as certain.

Although recommendations have been agreed upon and presented to the White House by the special cabinet board for public works administration President Roosevelt is yet to announce what the set-up in the various states will be. The cabinet group, including Assistant Secretary of the Treasury L. W. Farmer on Cheshire Bridge Road Develops Stand of Giant Bamboo

E. B. Beam, who operates a small farm out on the Cheshire Bridge road, has a place that is the envy and despair of plant lovers. Such oddities as Japanese cherries, huge gourds, old holly trees, and a plant that is a cross between holly and the common privet, all stand as minor attractions compared with the grove of bamboo beside Mr. Beam's residence.

Starting about 12 years ago with two shoots of the Japanese giant bamboo, Mr. Beam has developed a stand of this curious plant that is really remarkable. Some of the stalks are more than 50 feet high, and more than a foot in circumference. And he has sold as many plants from this plot as are now standing.

According to Mr. Beam's statement, the bamboos sprout in May, and the diameter of the grown plant. Some of

"Hit 'em Where They Ain't!" There Is No Better Advice

We were just sitting around talking when Willie Keeler's name came up.

This reminded me. So I drew Your Uncle Wilbert's head over close and whispered in his ear.

"Honest, now, was Keeler as great a hitter as they say he was, or is it a tradition which has grown with the telling?"

"WAS HE?" shouted Your Uncle Wilbert, banging the table and making the glasses and chinaware dance. "WAS

For a moment he seemed to be lost for words, continuing only to bang the table. His face grew purple, but finally the words came, "You doggone right he was." And he slapped the table again.

Your Uncle Wilbert is a mild-mannered man, but he was Willie Keeler played with the Baltimore Orioles, greatest of the old-time teams. He and Wilbert Robinson were teammates through all the great championship days when the Orioles-McGraw-Jennings-Robinson-Keeler and their associates—were invincible in baseball.

It was Keeler who really invented place-hitting; who developed hitting as an art-a lost art now that the lively ball and the free swingers have come along to make baseball a different game.

Keeler is best remembered by that naive interview. When asked the secret of his hitting ability, he said: "Hit 'em where they ain't." And down through the years that line has come as the best advice a hitter can be given-"Hit 'em where they

HIS RECORDS STAND.

The achievements of Willie Keeler spot the baseball records of today. The moderns with their livelier ball and the restricted pitching, which is easier to hit than the sort Keeler faced, haven't been able to take away his records.

He is one of the comparatively few men who ever batted more than .400 for a season. Keeler had an average of .432 for the 1897 season when the Old Orioles were ruling the base-

He was not a powerful man. He tried for singles. A two-base hit was a great hit. Triples were rare and home runs were an event in those days.

Willie Keeler went for nine consecutive years getting more than 200 base hits per season. Only a few players have tied that mark. None has bettered it.

It was in 1897 that he set a record, getting six hits in six times at bat. It so happens that Wilbert Robin-

After winning the curtain raiser 4 to 1 behind the effective hurling of Larry French, the Pirates fell before the brilliant relife pitching of Carl Hubbell, 7 to 3, in the nightcap before a crowd of 22,000, the largest of the season, at Forbes field.

Hubbell, entering the game after the Buccaneers had thumped Watson Clark hard in the first inning and with only two days' rest, pitched shutout ball for the remaining $1-3 innings. The victory was his 14th of the season and boosted his string of runless innings to 20 1-3.

The Giants, who had made four runs in chasing Hal Smith from the mound in their half of the initial inning, added three more off four other Pirate hurlers to give their star southpaw a good margin to work on.

CRACKERS WIN AS KLEINHANS IS KNOCKED OUT

Ted Gets Credit for 5-4 Victory; Moore Is Relief.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 19.—
Carlos Moore, for the second time in the series put on his celebrated rescue act. He stopped the Vols cold in the fifth with the tying run on second after four had scored so the Crax could win, 5 and 4, and get their first split of the year with the Vols. It was the 16th game the Vols have dropped this year by a one-run margin. Twas the fourth win of the year by the Crackers over the Vols and the second in Sulphur Dell. Both outfits were guilty of loose play. But for the wildness of Teddy Kleinhans in the fifth and Buster Chatham's bobble the Vols would have been blanked. But for limp play by Sammy Deuker in center and Lonney Frey at short, the Cracker total would not have reached such tallish "figgers."

Deuker allowed a single to go for three bases with fatal results. Frey kicked in a run. He was withdrawn after injuring his leg. Red Rollings at first vice Pete Susko, who was suspended for three days on account of an arm injury doubled in the third after Chatham and helped the Crax met three markers. Bonowitz fanned. McKee banked one which

Nears World Record

Glenn Cunningham, crack miler of the University of Kansas, came within a shade of equaling the world record of Jules Ladoumeque, of France, in the 1,000-meter run at Stockholm yesterday. Cunningham stepped the distance in 2 minutes 23.9 seconds as the American All-Stars took the lead in the international meet. (Story on next page.)

Sad Sam Jones Checks Big Bats of Yanks To Win.

NEW YORK, July 19.—(P)-The Chicago White Sox today broke through the New York Yankees defense for seven runs in the seventh inning and then went on to an 8-to-4 victory, a triumph that broke the world champions' successive winning streak at nine games and once again knotted the American league leader ship as the Senators turned back the Browns.

A muff of an easy fly by Babe Ruth started the Sox away on the rally. Before Wiley Moore, who relieved Walter Brown on the mound, forced Frank Grube to send a fly to Dixie Walker for the third out, Tony Lazzeri fumbled Swanson's grounder to allow the first run to cross the plate and Red Kress cleared the loaded sacks with a triple.

For six innings, Brown held the pale hose away from the plate with only two hits while his teammates, thanks to Dixie Walker for his tenth home run of the season, had scored two runs and apparently were headed for their tenth straight victors.

After Walker's circuit drive, which was hit with one on, Sam Jones held the Yanks in check until the ninth, when they scored two runs on Eddie Farrell's single, Earl Combs' pinch double, a wild pitch and Walker's infield out.

From the third to the sixth innings, the veteran hurler set the champions down without a hit. They got one, a single by Crosetti, in the seventh, and two more in the eighth when Joe Sewell connected with his fourth hit of the game and Ben Chapman dropped a one-bagger into left field.

Katherine Rawls To Defend Titles In A.A.U. Swim Today

FIFTY STARS WILL COMPETE; HOLM ENTERS

Eleanor To Defend Backstroke Title; Floridian Is Favorite.

NEW YORK, July 19 .- (A)-With 15-year-old Katherine Rawls, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., defending four titles, more than 50 of the country's greatest girl swimmers, including 11 team members. will open the four-day aquatic meet at Jones beach for the National A. A. U. championships. Miss Rawls will defend one championship each day, the springboard dire, tomorrow, the 220-yard breast stroke, Friday; the 300-meter medley, Saturday, and the 880-yard free style. Sunday.

style, Sunday.

The little southerner is an outstanding choice to repeat in the medley, but is expected to have strong opposition in the other three events. Dorothy Poynton, conqueror of Miss Rawls in the indoor nationals, and winner of the Olympic platform div-ing championship, is picked to furnish main contention in the spring board dive.

In the breast stroke, Miss Rawls will meet Margaret Hoffman, of Scranton, Pa., fifth in the Olympics last year and who only recently lost 300-merer duel to the Florida girl by a margin of inches. Lenore Kight, of Homestead, Pa., successor to Helene Madison as the American freestyle queen, is a favorite not only to whip Miss Rawls in the S80-yard event but sweep the free style races. Eleanor Holm, who has come from Hollywood to defend her 200-yard back stroke crown, should not fail to repeat if she approaches her universal long course record of 2:57 4-5.

The platform dive will see the return to competition of Helen Meany, Olympic springboard champion of 1928. Her chief rivais will be her sister, Mrs. Frances Meany Scofield, and Miss Poynton.

and Miss Poynton.

On the opening day, starting at 3 p. m., eastern daylight time, the 100-yard free style, the mile and the springboard diving championships will be decided. Preliminaries, if necessary, will be held in the morning.

AMERICAN ACE NEARS RECORD IN 1,000 METERS

Cunningham Runs Distance In 2:23.9; U.S. Stars Lead In Meet.

STOCKHOLM, July 19 .- (A)-Led by Glenn Cunningham, the brilliant American "miler" from Kansas, the touring all-star track and field team from the United States took the lead in its first international track meet here today by winning four of the first day's five events.

Cunningham failed by one threetenths of a second to equal the world's record for 1,000 meters as he ran that distance for the first time in his career. The Kansas ace, following the later. pace set by Erik Ny, of Sweden, most of the way, finished with a burst of speed that sent him past the tape in

SWAYS BOROTRA

AUTEUIL, France, July 19.—(P) French interest wavered tonight between discussions of the probable winner in the interzone final of the United States and Great Britain starting Friday, and the possibility that Jean Borotra, the Basque veteran, may again help France defend the Davis

With experts conceding on all sides that the American forces, headed by the brilliant Ellsworth Vines, are almost certain to sweep the Britons aside, heavy pressure was being brought to bear on Borotra to change his mind once more about playing only in the doubles with the state of the control of the cont

Last year, almost up to the moment of the draw, Borotra insisted that he was too old for further interthat he was too old for further international singles competition. batting average of .221.

You can figure the pitching it takes to carry a .22½ hitting team from the second division to the front. And they had some pretty fair batters to face at that time, including Ty Cobb, Larry Lajoie, Sam Crawford and a few more.

Walsh, Altrock and White turned out as brilliant an exhibition of pitching for more than

Borotra said today. "I will not play in the singles."

Nevertheless public demand for another comeback with him teaming with Henri Cochet in the singles as well as Brugnon in the doubles has not slackened. In addition the press as well as his friends keep pointing out to him that loss of the Davis cup is almost a certainty unless he relents. Vines, beaten only two yeeks ago Vines, beaten only two veeks ago by Jack Crawford, of Australia, in the Wimbledon singles final, appar-ently reached the peak of his form today, and in two sets of doubles play-ed as he did when he crushed Cochet

Vines' passing shots and it was chiefly his stroking that swamped both Lott and Van Ryn in the second set. Wilmer Allison, the Texan singles star, rested all day.

The Ameri'ans are heavy favorites.

The Americans are heavy favorites to win but there has been little betting. Most of what has been done has set the odds at about 7 to 5 on the United States. It is felt here that if the English can manage to wangle one victory Friday they are capable of putting up a powerful fight Saturday and Sunday in the remaining matches.

Somewhere Near Road's End.

For the last week or so a pair of old gentlemen have been waiting for outh to fight it out before making the final frontal assault. Their names are Henri Cochet and Jean Borotra-once known as the Ball Boy of Lyons and the Bounding Basque. They are old only in a competitive athletic sense and neither probably wants any sympathy—or will need it this year.

But they can't be far from the end of the road—and this may be the spot where all champions check out. Vines, Van Ryn, Austin, Perry, Crawford, McGrath—all young and kean—are scrambling for pot shot at the French defenders who have been Fuqua also won almost as he pleased, taking the 400 meters in 48.5 seconds finishing more than a second.

There seems to be a general idea that Carnera and Baer, the two outstanding heavyweights, will put off their quarrel until next year.

The idea back of this is the financial cleanup they can make from this summer's publicity.

Both are taking a gamble along this line. A Carnera-Baer meet-ing in Chicago in late September with the world's fair crowd to call on would draw the biggest gate since the last Tunney-Demp-sey fight.

It would pick up the impetus of the Baer-Schmeling and Carnera-Sharkey battles, just when the topic is at its hottest. No one can tell what will happen a year from now. Carnera can make no money to speak of against any one else. Crowd psy-chology is against him. No multitude is going to pay out any money to see a big fellow beat-ing up a much smaller bloke. Baer is the only one left who is conceded a chance. He isn't as big as Carnera but he isn't any midget himself. And he isn't so far away in the matter of height and reach and raw physical strength

The second pitching outbreak came in July, 1914, on the part of the Boston Braves. They were in seventh place early in July. Then Tyler, Rudolph and James began putting more stuff on the ball than opposing hitters had on their bats. Day after day, week after week, it was Tyler—Rudolph—James—working in turn.

The New Deal.

It is a trifle refreshing to have at least six teams and possibly seven left in the two pennant races, with August only a step away.

The American league race has known little but runaway, spread-eagle pennant fights for some time on the part of Athletics and Yankees.

Washington has upset this old order in the promise of a lively scramble down the stretch.

The four-cornered melee among Giants, Cubs, Cardinals and Pirates still has the crowd guessing—with the Braves hanging on at the outskirts.

The new trensury issues will be repayable in London February 1, 1937, with interest payable in half weekly installments.

The announcement of the "invitation" to conversion pointed out that from the terms of recent American legislation, payment of interest and repayment of principal under the existing bonds, if made in New York, can only be made in currency or coin which is at the date of payment legal tender in the United States for the discharge of debts, that is, paper dollars, and not in gold dollars.

"His majesty's government," the British statement said, "propose to make an offer to holders of the bonds to surrender their existing bonds after encashment of the interest coupon due August 1, 1933, and to receive in exchange new sterling bonds which would be issued subject to the Faramount program.

Sinclair Motor Oils in NEW TAMPER-PROOF CANS

help Atlanta dealers fight bootleg oil

How much of the money that you spend for motor oil goes into the hands of the oil bootlegger? Some authorities say that the bootlegger gets his cut on 25% of all the motor oil sold today.

But not at Sinclair service stations here! Sinclair dealers are fighting this racket with the new Sinclair 1-quart and 5-quart Tamper-Proof cans. Buy your motor oil from them and you can't possibly get an inferior oil instead of the famous brand you ask for. You run no risk of having another motorist's crankcase drainings poured into your engine!

Sinclair Tamper-Proof cans are refinery-filled and refinery-sealed — an absolute guarantee that you get genuine Sinclair Opaline Motor Oil, "mellowed 80 million years" or Sinclair Pennsylvania Motor Oil, "mellowed a hundred million years".

Protect your car from inferior oil. Ask for Sinclair Motor Oil in the Tamper-Proof can - the can that's opened before your eyes and smashed beyond all possibility of ever being used again! This service costs you nothing extra.

THIS news will interest every woman who knows Kotex. An improvement has been made that adds far greater protection without adding to the bulk of the pad. You still wear it on either side in perfect comfort and safety. The Equalizer section cannot be copied or duplicated. It is patented. Read the direction sheet for an explanation of just what it does.

Softness, absorbency, ease of disposal are all retained. Also, Kotex is the only pad with "Phantom" ends, rounded and tapered, non-detectable. Equalizer Kotex offers you absolute safety in sanitary protection.

Friendly Counsel BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Problems of general interest submit-ted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Mise Chaiffield, care The Atlanta Constitu-tion.

Dear Miss Chatfield: I am a carefree schoolgirl, not accustomed to concealing my likes and dislikes, Recently my brother married a lovely girl that he had been courting for five years. Through occasional visits to them I have become acquainted with her family and I have fallen in love with her 2U-vear-old brother. I love with her 20-year-old brother. I have tried to think of him as a mem-ber of the family but I can't control my feeling for him any longer. No one suspects my secret so far, and I want to keep him, most of all, from suspecting it. Please tell me how to go about getting his attention.

HOPEFUL.

Answer: The females who can conceal their feelings about the state of their affections are few and far between. If you would keep the young man rom suspect-ing your attachment for him you must make yourself scarce at your brother's home. The object of a girl's love draws her like a mag-net to his side. He possesses her girl's love draws her like a mag-net to his side. He possesses her thoughts, fires her imagination and sets her feet in motion to find him, wherever he may be. When he happens to be in her own brother's home, a place to which she has ready access, only the sternest sort of self-discipline can restrain her from overdoing the visiting. Noth-ing will scare off a man so surely as the conviction that he is being pursued.

For Atlanta Today

More rain to help decrease the deficiency for July will fall today, ac-cording to the forecast by George W. Mindling, official weather observer and temperatures will be slightly higher than the 86 degrees registered Wednesday. Extremes today are ex-pected to be 70 and 88 degrees. The weatherman said the rain would not be steady, but would fall in showers like the precipitation of

10 Careful, Efficient Auto Drivers Rewarded With Tickets to Grand

Ten careful drivers were found in the the heavy downpour which deluged Atlanta at noon Wednesday and each of them was rewarded with a pair of tickets to Loew's Grand theater in recognition of their care and courtesy to other auto operators and pedestrians.

Award of the theater tickets are a second to the constitution will station himself at a downtown corner to observe careful drivers and those seen using extreme care in driving will be notified of their selection and guest tickets to Loew's Grand theater will be mail-tesy to other auto operators and pedestrians.

Award of the theater tickets was in connection with the efforts of The Constitution to reward and recognize efficient operation of motor vehicles. In making the announcement Wednesday morning, the newspaper had said that only inefficient and careless drivers in the past had been recognized with publicity.

Points considered in awarding the tickets were signals on turns; correct application of brakes; warnings given when drivers were leaving parking places; stopping to permit passengers on buses and trolleys to alight and been tickets were signals on turns; correct application of brakes; warnings given when drivers were leaving parking places; stopping to permit passengers on buses and trolleys to alight and

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

What has gone before.

What has gone before.

When Mary Sawyer, at 18, leaves her Millstream, Va., home to learn dress designing in Hollywood, she meets Freckle Bryan, a movie extra, and goes to live with her. Freckle takes her to a charity fair at the beautiful estate of Curt Little, millsonaire movie producer, who recognizes her as the daughter of the man who stole his wife years before in Virginia. He determines to use Mary as the instrument of revenge and cultivates her friendship. The day after Mary meets Curt, who as 39 is prematurely gray but handsome, they are at the Chema Club when Tom Smith shows up at Freckle's apartment and announces he is Mary's fiance. Tom has made the trip from Virginia in an asthmatic car built from odd parts. When Mary returns at 3 o'clock in the morning, she uphraids him for following her. He leaves after a scene, saying Mary can reach him at the "Y." but writes her and she asks him to call that evening. Just before he arrives, Curt phones asking her to dine with him and saying he has a surprise for her. She accepts, hoping it is the job with a designer he has mentioned. When Tommy learns Mary has stood him up, he tells Freckle he is through with her. Curt's surprise is to send her to Madame Cissie Dumas, famous couturier, who delights her by engaging her as a model. Even Mary is aurprised because of her size, but Madame Dumas explains that several of Little's movie stars are petite and she needs a model like Mary to show them her gowns. What she does not tell Mary is that Curt Little is to pay her salary. Now Go ON WITH THE STORY.

"He ought to bring his shingle out here and put a new coat of paint on it and go in for telling the old fat gals how to reduce or something—and he'd soon be a millionaire."

"He was born in Millstream—and he'll die there slaving for the people he's always known, I guess," Mary said with a home-sick sigh. "I've known him to drive 25 miles in a blizard to see someons who could never that had upset his breakfast hour.

Then, summoning all his courage, he went into a phone booth. Curt Little was interrupted at breakfast by a call. His valet handed him the phone.

"I want to talk over something about Mary. Please don't say anything to her about my calling youlike a good gir!"

Freckle's bubble of happiness burst as suddenly as it had been born. Of course, she might have known Curt Little couldn't be interested in her freckled mug. But why should he call her about Mary?

He sent one of his cars and Freckle sighed contentedly when she sank into its rich upholstery. The chauffeur touched his cap respectfully.

"Mreckle's pour here to talk about Mary."

"Naturally," Freckle said shortly, was hard for Curt Little to go on. He was feeling his way.

"I'm very fond of Mary." he looked down so that Freckle could not see his eyes. "I—I think I'm falling in love."

Freckle gasped with surprise.

It had been a difficult day. Mary went to sleep shortly after Freckle's of her.

out of next year's yacht!

When Curt Little saw Freckle's wide, wholesome smile as she crossed the restaurant to join him he realized that he would have to be very careful if he hoped to win her over to be an ally on his side. There was nothing but honesty and friendliness in the pink and white speckled face and sunny blue eyes. There wasn't the slightest chance that she would double-cross her friend Mary if she realized what she was doing.

She sat down and nicked up the worrying about her.

Several times Freckle turned on the light to see if Mary looked feverish. She had never been so fond of a girl as she was of Mary. For she had never known anyone of Mary's sweet simplicity. It worried her to see Mary and Tommy quarreling all the time. Freckle thought about it a great deal in the night.

If Tommy insisted upon acting like that, keeping Mary stirred up and miserable, it would be better if he passed out of the picture altogether. She hoped he'd go back to Virginia to do his sulking.

Tommy, too, lay awake most of the night. And the longer he rolled and tossed in his little room the more tortured he became.

By morning he convinced himself that if Mary didn't have sense enough to take care of herself and tell Curt Little where to head in, it was his job to take matters into his own hands.

He choked down a soggy doughnut and drank strong coffee in a miserable little cafeteria near the "Y."

Then summoning all his courage, he convoints the summoning all his courage, he can all you his side. There was nothing but honesty and friendliness in the pink and winte speckled face and sunny blue eyes. There wasn't the slightest chance that she would double-cross her friend Mary if she realized what she was doing.

She sat down and picked up the menu with a grin that crinkled her entire face:

"I hope you'll order everything in the joint for me. It isn't often I get a chance to take a man over for a meal."

His hearty laugh put her at ease. "Go as far as you like," he said, house it is he for just such an onslaught. I've dined with extra girls before."

his gallant head.

Freckle almost carried out her threat to eat everything in the place. He had never seen a woman enjoy food with such a delightful abandon. No worrying about calories there.

Girls like her, he told himself, deserved more attention. They really appreciated good food and being taken places. Freckle was by no means unattractive. She had a million-dollar smile and a sense of humor that made her one of the most delightful people he had ever met.

But she lacked that illusive "It"

It had sounded deadly earnest.

Curt decided there was only one way to find out about Mary's boy friend. He didn't dare mention him to Mary. And he hoped the young man would keep his flare of hot temper to himself. It might embarrass Mary and spoil their relationship just when it had settled down to be one of such perfect trust.

He waited until he was certain

There was a slight pause when the waiter placed the coffee on the table. Curt toyed with his cup a moment, then looked up nervously.

Some market observers had been warning that a sharp "corrective reaction" was a distinct probability. Commission houses had advised customers to shorten their commitments. But an important factor apparently was a report that the large banks were tightening up on speculative credit, partly owing to fears that the feverish trading of the past several weeks was unhealthy. Especially as it might affect the progress of the administration's national recovery plans. At the same time a number of brokers jumped their margin requirements to as much as 50 and 60 per cent in some instances, while several were said to have insisted on wholly cash transactions in a few of the more volatile alcohol issues. One bright spot in the picture was the bond market. Here many of the best grade maturities recorded moderate improvement and, despite some irregularity in the secondary groups, the averages managed to edge up to another 1933 high.

The dollar seemingly was not a motivating influence. While it showed gain of some 2 cents against the British pound sterling, it was only a trifle higher in terms of the leading European gold currencies.

CHICAGO: July 19 .- (A) Struck y a hurricane of stop-loss selling, all grain markets suddenly collapsed late oday, wheat as much as 131-4 cents bushel. Nine days of incessant general public speculative buying sowed the wind. nd reaped the whirlwind. The markets snapped under the strain of mountainlike overbought conditions fter wheat had shown an unprecedented vertical rise of 40 cents a bushel without a substantial reaction. Most of the smash in grain values ame in the final quarter hour of trading, with prices at times falling faster than a cent a bushel a minute. faster than a cent a bushel a minute. After wheat prices had excitedly smashed down more than 13 cents and rye nearly as much, with corn off about 5 cents and oats 7 cents, wheat rallied 1 to 2 cents, closing flurried, 9.7-8 to 12.1-4 under yesterday's finish, rye 11.1-4 to 12.1-4 lower, cen at 3.1-2 to 4.3-4 decline, oats at 2.3-4 to 6.3-4 loss, and provisions showing setbacks varying from 2 cents to 52 cents.

Corn and oats were relatively stead-er than wheat and rye, owing to indi-ations of a possible return of dam-ging high temperatures over the corn

Electric Output Tops All Previous Upturns

NEW YORK, July 19 .- (P)-Topping all previous gains since the start of the upturn early in May, electric power output last week rose 16.4 per cent over the corresponding period last year. The outrurn also registered a considerable pickup from the previous week in which the July 4 holiday occurred.

Production for the week, as reported by the Edison Electric Institute, amounted to 1,648,339,000 kilowatt hours compared with 1.538.500,000 in the preceding week and 1,415,704,000 in the like 1932 period.

The week's output showed the largest percentage gain since the period ended June 29, 1929, and was not far from the peak percentage increases within 15 minutes to 60 minutes of the time scheduled. Most people like to be on time. These punctual players keep coming on time until they see there is no use of it and then postpone their arrival. Some people, the minority it is true, never know the meaning of punctuality. They are late at 8 o'clock. If the hour was 10 o'clock or 1 in the morning they would still be late.

What is the answer? Quite simple, if the tournament directors are not afraid of losing a few players the first one or two tournaments. Advertise your tournaments to start at a certain hour. Let it start at that hour and let the tardy ones go to the movies. For the first few times your may have a slightly smaller tournament in the bid-

3—Perhaps slightly venturesome in view of North and South's strong bidding, but, after all, the hand should produce 7 tricks, and any loss, if doubled, would be in part balanced by the honors held.

4—Were it not for North's Forcing Takeout, South at this point would show the diamond suit, but, misled by the Forcing Takeout, he desires to assure his partner of the rebiddability of the spades, visioning a possible Slam. In view of North's overbidding proclivities, South might well pass.

5—Of course, North should pass. The hand was overbid when the Forcing Takeout was made, and if North is to bid again, it must be on the basis of information furnished by his partner disclosing a fit somewhere else in the hand.

6—From a purely technical standpoint, not a sound Double, as, for all East knows, South has a perfectly safe escape. Of course, as the cards lie, the five-heart contract can be defeated 2 tricks.

7—This bid is based on the fact that South knows his own suit is practically solid. The Double of five South knows his own suit is practically solid. The Double of five hearts by East indicates that his partner's is not.

South of course, might stop and less his partner take his medicine. let his partner take his medicine but, after all, all things point to the probability that, regardless of whether or not North is void of spades, spades are the safest suit for the partnership. It is, of course, evident now that the concourse, evident now that the contract is one too high.

This comes as a matter of course, in view of his partner's previous Doubles of the heart bid.

In the play South lost two tricks—a club and the Ace of trumps. In view of his honor holding and in view of the fact that he knew his partner was the type of player who forced without sufficient values and who could not bear to see a hand played in a suit in which his holding was a singleton, his loss was much less than he had reason to anticipate.

NEW YORK, July 19.—Raw sugar was easier today, spot prices declining 5 points to 3.60 with offerings more liberal. Sales reported included about 25.000 baga of Cuban for late July shipment at 3.60 and 31.500 baga of Philippines for July-August, Angust-September shipment at 3.65.

Reports that both Cuban and domestic beet growers were opposed to the allotment suggested in the plan being worked out at the Washington conference had a depressing effect in the futures market and led to rather general liquidation. The market closed at net losses of 5 to 7 points. Salex were 43.250 tons. The decline carried active positions 5 to 10 points below the previous close and uncovered stop-loss orders. After their execution there were bartial railies on covering, although sentiment was still uncertied with closing prices 1 to 3 points above the lowest.

stitution upon a solid, independent basis, and its prospects for usefulness were never more promising.

The school will open for the fall term on September 5, and already a large number of young people have applied for admission. The curriculum will be the same as heretofore. The institution will be directed by a board of trustees consisting of three members of the faculty and three others, one of whom will be Paul W. Chapman.

The faculty will be the same, with possibly some minor changes. Dr. J. Henry Walker will continue as president. Athletics will continue to be a feature, with David Irenus (Red) Barron, an outstanding figure in southern prep sports circles as coach. Professor R. N.
